

Account: Do you automatically upgrade my account when I've used all of my disk space?

No. We will send you a warning when you are about to exceed your limit so that you can make the choice to upgrade your service or not. Primarily, it is not one of our goals to charge you for disk space, but in the rare instance where you require a larger amount due to large video files, excessive traffic or an abundance of music on your site, we will make the determination of your added bandwidth cost based on your usage on our server. If you want to keep your costs at their minimum, make sure that you periodically clean out your media/image library once you see your limit is full.
